What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator

The summary risk indicator (SRI) assumes you keep the product for 10 years.

The SRI is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product may lose money because of future investment performance or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level, and poor financial market conditions could impact the capacity of Red Rose Assurance to pay you. This product will pay the value at the date of withdrawal. If Red Rose Assurance is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment. However, you may have recourse through the Financial Services Compensation Scheme.

Performance Scenarios

The following table shows the money you could get back over the next 10 years, under different scenarios, assuming that you invest £1,000 per annum and no withdrawals are taken. The scenarios shown illustrate how your investment could perform. You can compare them with the scenarios of other products. The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of this investment varies and are not an exact indicator. What you get will vary depending on how investments within the Fund perform and how long you keep the product. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme financial market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you. The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, including the costs associated with arranging and setting up the policy.
