The underlying investments are in Shariah compliant stocks and shares that are screened and approved by an Independent Shariah committee. The fund does not include companies in the following sectors: weapons and defence, pork related products, tobacco, alcohol, financial services or entertainment sectors.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Summary Risk Indicator

Description of the risk-reward profile

The summary risk indicator assumes that you keep the product for 10 years and is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to others. We have classified this product as 4 out of 7 which represents a medium level of risk. This rating shows how likely it is that you could lose money because of market movements affecting the value of your investment. There are no guarantees on the sum which will be paid on withdrawal. You may receive less than what you have invested. If Red Rose Assurance is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment, however you may benefit from a consumer protection scheme (see the section 'What happens if Red Rose Assurance is unable to pay out?').

The main factors likely to affect future returns

The performance of your investment is determined by the value of the units you hold in the fund and these will rise and fall according to the performance of the underlying stocks in which they are invested. Returns are also affected by our expenses, which we charge for managing your Red Rose Assurance Shariah ISA.

What are the most relevant benchmarks?

The most relevant benchmark is the Dow Jones Islamic Market Titans 100 Index, which measures the performance of the Shariah compliant stocks in which the fund is invested. A summary of the performance of the Index can be provided on request.

What could affect my return positively?

If the underlying stocks in which the fund is invested perform better than expected, you will receive a higher return.

What could affect my return negatively?

If the underlying stocks in which the fund is invested do not perform as well as expected, you will receive a lower return. This might be less than what you would receive in a bank or building society account.

What might I get back in severely adverse market conditions?

In severely adverse market conditions the value of stocks may fall and if you withdraw you might receive less than you have invested.

What happens if Red Rose Assurance is unable to pay out?

If we are unable to pay you what you are owed under the terms and conditions of the investment you are covered by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS). You can find out more about them from their website www.fscs.org.uk or you can ring them on 0800 678 1100. This product is categorised as an insurance based investment product which means that you are covered for 100% of loss on this product through the FSCS.

What are the costs?

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs. The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the product itself, for three different holding periods. The figures assume you invest £1,000 per year. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

Costs over time

The person selling you or advising you about this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs and show you the impact that all costs will have on your investment over time.

How long should I hold it and can I take money out early?

After we accept your application, we will send you a notice of your right to cancel. You will then have 30 days to change your mind, cancel the ISA and receive a refund. The amount of refund you receive might be more or less than your investment if the value of units has increased or fallen between making the investment and the Society receiving your cancellation form.

The recommended minimum holding period is at least 10 years. The recommended holding period has been selected to enable investors to benefit from long term growth whilst avoiding short term volatility.

Full and partial withdrawal or transfer to another ISA provider is allowed at any time but you may get back less than you have invested.
